

Male Speaker 1: [0:00] You might remember Jimmy from his TV appearance a couple years ago when he took second place at the Aussie Millions at the age of 19. Since then, Jimmy's gone on to have some more tournament success - winning an event at the Bellagio last fall being his biggest score - but he's also playing the cash games. And I'm excited to have him on the show to talk about those cash games because he's one of the people who not only plays at a high level but can describe his thinking and the logic behind the actions he is taking also at a high level. And so we're going to primarily talk about the difference between saying "all-in" when you've got a monster hand and how to bet to extract value from your opponent or get them to make a really bad decision, but we're going to cover a lot of bases as well and answer some e-mails and break down a couple hands from the forums. But last weekend saw a nice little reunion of sorts for all of the Poker Road crew, as everyone was in town for the Dream Team Poker Tournament and I have the - well, I'm not exactly sure how to say it so I'm just going to put it out there. I was eliminated from the event by team Two Jacks member Joe Stapleton. Yes, the king of Italian harry comedy did knock me out of the tournament. I - there's just nothing else to say. Why he would be gunning for me, you know, another Poker Road member, I don't know. But my ace eight went down in flames to his kings when I pushed from the button as a short stack and that was all she wrote for me. Unfortunately - no one else from Poker Road was able to cash. Came really close on a few occasions. I know that the contest winner from team Two Jacks in the Hole bubbled, unfortunately. But it was a lot of fun. It was a blast playing in that tournament and normally I won't be talking about tournaments on here but I just thought it was a good spot to just acknowledge the poker prowess...

[Length: 2 minutes, 12 seconds]

Transcribed by:

PodcastTexts